Dee and Kristen,

After our call with you today, Bob and I contacted our contracting contacts in OUST. We learned that the new contract officer representative, Christine, took an initial look at the work assignment package already and that it looked good. Christine needed to complete a review of the package and planned to do that on Friday. If there were no issues, she would send it to contracts on Friday. After that, the Contracting Officer (CO) reviews it and if it is acceptable, he sends it to Bristol, our contractor. The CO typically moves pretty quickly (estimate a week) on these. When Bristol gets the work assignment there is a discussion phase but typically this moves quickly (estimate a week or less). Everyone knows this a priority project. It is possible, although difficult to promise, that this work assignment may be approved the week after next.

Sherry
